CITY TRUSTEES

BRIDGE UNSAFE FOR LOADS OF OVER TWELVE TON WEIGHT

Necessity of a New Concrete Structure On North Main Is Pointed Out

PAVING OF GARFIELD DOWN TO TWO BLOCKS

Gravel Surfacing on West Chestnut and West Pine Streets Is Stopped

The North Main street bridge is not safe for some of the heavy loads that are hauled across it. It is safe for a maximum load of twelve tons. Less than a week ago a load of 45,000 pounds was taken over this bridge. A new concrete bridge would cost $20,000 or $25,000. The bridge is to be posted, but that will not relieve the city trustees individually from action for damages if the bridge gives way under a heavy load.

The condition of the North Main street bridge was the first and most important subject taken up at the meeting of the city trustees last night. Trustee McPhee stated that at a meeting in Los Angeles at which delegates from various counties took steps to get uniform highway usage laws for all of Southern California the question of the safety of bridges was brought up. Trucks are hauling tremendous loads, more than was dreamed of when many of the bridges were built. McPhee has had Colonel S. H. Finley, engineer, examine the North Main street bridge.

Finley's report was read. He said the bridge was not safe for a load of over twelve tons on tires bearing 700 pounds to the one-inch width.

McPhee said that at the Los Angeles meeting, Attorney Haas stated that posting a bridge does not save a city trustee or supervisor from responsibility for damages should the bridge go down under a heavy load. Either the bridge must be made safe or traffic on it must be stopped.

"I have been under that bridge when it was being used, and it bounces and dances like a bucking horse."

and get a clear vision of the possibilities of Fruit and Nut growing without irrigation in the Templeton-Paso Robles district—a swell place for a home—money making opportunities undreamed of a few years back, a combination of desirable conditions possessed by no other locality in the state, these are reasons why so many men from Orange county and other Southern California points are investing there.

10 acre lots, best orchard zone, near town, fine soil for almonds, walnuts, pears or prunes—all money makers—$90.00 to $175.00 per acre.

10 acre lots, young orchards just coming into bearing, $300.00 to $400.00 per acre.

Here are two good ones, combinations suitable for dairying, hog raising and fruit growing, ¼ mile from high school.

30 acres, ½ in alfalfa, ½ in fine pear, prune or walnut land, $200.00 per acre.

43 acres adjoining and in the same combination and price, the alfalfa land owns electric pumping plant and modern cement pipe line system.

Mae Murray to Be "The Big Sister"

MAE MURRAY, LASKY STAR, IN PARAMOUNT PICTURES.

One of the first outward manifestations of the practical advantages of the recently formed merger of the Famous Players Film Company and the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company is the fact that Mae Murray, who has appeared under the Lasky banner since her debut on the screen, is now working on starring her new Paramount picture, "The Big Sister" at the Famous Players studio under the direction of John B. O'Brien, Famous Players director.

Never before has such a situation arisen between the two companies except once in the case of Marguerite Clark, who was loaned to the Lasky Company for the production of "The Goose Girl," after she had created a sensation in her screen debut in the Famous Players-Lasky production "Wildflower."

In the case of Mae Murray, however, her conversion to the roster of Famous Players stars is only the first of many similar steps that are sure to be taken as circumstances warrant. It so happens that the atmosphere of "The Big Sister" is strictly Eastern in every aspect and that, although it could be produced at Hollywood, Cal., where the Lasky studios are situated, the transportation of Miss Murray to New York represents a far less expense than that which would be incurred in traveling on the Pacific coast in search of location and of devoting great areas of floor space to the erection of studio sets.

said McPhee. "Colonel Finley says that it could be strengthened by some piles, which, however, would wash out."

City Attorney Scott said that any person who knew the bridge was weak and went on it with a heavy load would be guilty of contributory negligence, if the bridge gave way. The fact that two huge loads are likely to meet on the bridge at any time was brought out. Trustee Tubbs said that a few days ago a load of 45,000 pounds of marble came across the bridge.

McPhee said it would cost $20,000 to build a concrete bridge, which ought to be built.

It was decided to put up signs at the bridge telling the public that the bridge is safe for only twelve tons.

Change to Rock

Residents on Highland street west of Flower asked that the street be improved with gravel and oil, the property owners to pay for the gravel and oil. Of 3800 feet, there was 2500 feet signed.

McPhee said that efforts to get good gravel hauled on West Chestnut and west Pine, two sister streets north of Highland, had failed. He had stopped the hauling of gravel on Chestnut because it was 60 per cent sand, which would not do. He believed that gravel and oil with much sand would be throwing money away. On his motion permission to gravel Chestnut and Pine was rescinded, and steps were ordered taken for plans and specifications for covering the street with two inches of crushed rock, which will cost for the rock about $11 per 50-foot lot.

Highland street offered another problem. City Engineer Bonebrake said that a two-foot cut would be necessary to get the street to grade. There is 330 feet of the street above grade.

Tubbs, McPhee and Bonebrake were named a committee to investigate. It is not likely that gravel and oil paving will be allowed.

The same committee is to investigate drainage of Bristol street. Bonebrake reported in favor of opening a ditch on the east side of the street.

School Sidewalk

A petition from property owners, referred to the city by the school board, asked that a sidewalk be laid on the Ross street side of Jefferson school. Tubbs said the school board was willing to lay the sidewalk if the city had sidewalk laid southward on the same street to where cement sidewalks now are. Maryatt and Tubbs were named as a committee to make a report on the matter.

Garfield Paving

A frontage of 1442 feet protested against the petition asking that Garfield street from Brown to Wellington be paved. On the petition was 950 feet frontage, all or nearly all of it being in the two blocks between Fruit and Vance. Seventeen property owners wanted pavement and fourteen opposed, including several with frontages of from 100 to 350 feet. Willis Faust protested, saying he did not have money to pay for paving.

Parker said he did not like the paving. N. A. Beals and Henry Luxembourg asked that if the city could not see its way clear to pave more, those who live on Garfield between Fruit and Vance want those two blocks paved. The city trustees ordered proceedings started for crushed rock and oil from the south line of Fruit to the north line of Vance.

On East Sixth

A resolution for paving East Sixth from Garfield to Poinsettia was passed for first reading.

The use of the city hall for a meeting of apricot growers, date to be set later, was granted.

The report of the conference with gas officials was that every precaution possible will be used to prevent gas leaks.

Tubbs and McPhee were named as a committee to buy a team for the city. Maryatt moved that the city attorney be instructed to draw up an ordinance to prevent games of chance. City Attorney Scott stated that the state law covers the point. There was no second to Maryatt's motion.

The naming of J. W. Murray as nightwatchman was ratified.

Up to Superintendent

Street Superintendent O'Brien was given authority to grant permits to cut paving.

A resolution ordering crushed rock and oil paving on Richland avenue was passed.

Final passage was given an ordinance making twelve ounces and twenty-four ounces as the standard weights for loaves of bread. Final passage was also given the ordinance requiring peddlers to have scales sealed by the county sealer.

Ransom Reid, water and sewer superintendent, was given thirty days leave of absence from the state.

The street superintendent was given authority to haul away and use surplus surfacing taken up by the P. E. in its re-paving on Fourth street. This material is being used and will be used in filling chuck holes.

TODAY ARGUE WELLS CASE ON REHEARING

Today Attorney E. E. Keech, president of the Orange County Bar Association, and Attorney Hunsaker of Los Angeles, counsel for the association, are before the supreme court arguing a motion for a rehearing of the T. A. Wells case. The bar association sought to have the appellate court set aside an order admitting Wells to practice law. The ruling of the court was against the petition of the association. Today's proceedings are part of an attempt to get the ruling reconsidered.

IS SUPPORTER OF PROHIBITION THROUGHOUT NATION

R. C. Harbison, Republican Candidate For Congress, Makes Positive Statements at Fullerton

FULLERTON, Oct. 17.—With representative dry men of this community out boosting for the Harbison meeting here last night, the candidate for Congress from the Eleventh district was greeted with a crowd of 500 people at the open-air meeting at Commonwealth and Spadra streets.

C. C. Chapman of Placentia presided and introduced Harbison and E. E. Keech of Santa Ana, both of whom made forceful addresses covering the tariff and liquor questions. The Anaheim band was present and rendered several selections.

In introducing Harbison, Chairman Chapman read a statement signed by leading dry workers of San Bernardino and Redlands deploring the statements made against Harbison by Edwards campaigners in which it was charged that he was unfaithful to the dry cause.

Chapman stated that he had known the editor for twenty years and had found him to be sincere and earnest in his work in behalf of the dry cause.

Republican Party, the One Way Keech spoke at length on some of the prominent issues in this campaign. He declared that every dry voter who cast his ballot for Edwards was casting a vote against Harbison.

"I was a member of the prohibition party for many years until I found a better way of getting results," declared the speaker. "I found the better way in the Republican party. The only way to get results is by voting with the Republican party on dry candidates. The only way we can get a dry man into congress this year is to elect Harbison and I advise all my dry friends to support him."

In his address Harbison declared for national prohibition and adequate protection for the products of this country. He pledged himself to support any measure that would bring about absolute prohibition for the state and nation. He advocated the most stringent legislation for the protection of dry states against the wet states—would prohibit a wet state shipping liquors into a dry state.

He made a strong plea for the support of Hughes for president and Gov. Johnson for United States Senator.

"Come-back" Means Salvation. Touching on the tariff issues, Harbison said:

"No state has more to gain from a come-back by the Republicans nationally, with their policies which mean so much to California interests and industries. And with that much at stake, local differences and jealousies must go into the discard. The question is not where we have been or what we have done for four years, but what we propose to do as Republicans in California in 1916.

"The tariff is the most persistent issue in American politics. It is a militant measure. It is national defense in commercial warfare. It grew in this country out of conditions arising from wars here and abroad. It started with the beginning of the United States.

Tariff Essential. "The only protection the California citrus growers have is told in the tale of tears in a million stricken homes across the ocean, and it would be the

A CHILD'S TONGUE SHOWS IF LIVER OR BOWELS ARE ACTIVE

If Cross, Feverish, Sick, Bilious, Give Fruit Laxative At Once

—Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue. Mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomachache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

It is a commercial prosperity which is based, not upon construction but upon destruction; not on life but on death; not on happiness but upon distress; not upon progress and development and advancement, but upon ruin and want and misery.

"And on the horizon we see the finish of the great war, and the men with money to invest see it. Are the relics of those battlefields, the cripples, and the poverty-stricken people to compete in the fields of Southern Europe with the decently-paid workers of our own Southern California?"

In the Oil Fields. Harbison visited most of the oil leases yesterday, meeting the men employed in various capacities on the wells. He made a strong impression in personal talks with those whom he met.

In the afternoon he visited in Placentia, where he called upon C. C. Chapman and other prominent growers in that vicinity as well as business men in the city.

Last night he was tendered a complimentary dinner at Fullerton before the evening meeting.

Anaheim Tonight. The candidate visited Yorba Linda and the oil wells again today and tonight will deliver an address at the open forum at 7:30. Hon. Hans Weisel will also speak. A complimentary dinner at the Valencia Hotel will be given at 6 o'clock, at which a number of Santa Ana people will be present.

MERCHANTS OF ORANGE TO SEE SUGAR MAKING

Process Is to Be Shown By Santa Ana Sugar Co. Superintendent

The members of the Orange Merchants' Association will be guests of the Santa Ana Co-operative Sugar Company next Wednesday night when the association will make a tour of inspection of the sugar company's plant at Dyer, south of Santa Ana.

The tour was arranged by Miss Helen Miller, secretary of the association, who took the matter up with Superintendent Klantz of the factory. The latter extended a cordial invitation to the Orange merchants.

The association will hold its regular banquet at Orange at 6:30 p.m. and at 7:30 will leave in machines for the factory. The factory will be in operation and the visitors will be shown the entire process of manufacturing sugar.

SUGAR PRICES OUTLOOK

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16.—There is very little buying of sugar beyond ordinary needs on the present market, although it is likely that values will go somewhat higher before the new Cuban crop begins to have any effect. In normal years holdings of raw sugar begin to weaken by the middle of November, although it is not until December that the new crop in Cuba begins grinding.

Last year this rule of a break in November was not borne out as values moved up steadily through October and November until December 31, when the first break came.

Thus it is anybody's guess when the market will ease off, but with prices as high as they are, most of the trade will go easy on purchases which will run them beyond November 15.

ADVANCEMENTS MADE

LOS ALAMITOS, Oct. 16.—Owing to pressure of other large business interests, J. Ross Clark recently resigned as vice-president and general manager of the Los Alamitos Sugar Company. Following its policy of many years, there is a general advancement of the staff—Henry C. Lee becomes vice-president and general manager; E. C. Hamilton succeeds Mr. Lee as manager; Karl V. Bennis, assistant superintendent, takes Mr. Hamilton's place as superintendent and Frank L. Norton is promoted to the position vacated by Mr. Bennis.

that the German government has decided to fix also the maximum quantity of saccharine people are allowed to consume per head monthly.

This has been fixed on one-quarter of a gram and may be used for any purpose. Whereas some time ago the use of saccharine was only allowed for industrial purposes and to replace sugar only as a sweetening material, now saccharine is allowed to be used also to replace sugar as a nutritive material.

WHEN IS BUSINESS NOT BUSINESS?

Sugar Magazine:—When is business not business—when is capital invested for the purpose of putting up a plant to produce a certain class of goods to be considered as outside the operation of the ordinary rules and regulations of business? The answer could very well be in the American sugar industry, judging from some examples of criticism, suggestion and statements that circulate around in the course of a month's work.

Some figures are now going the rounds compiled for the purpose of emphasizing how high sugar prices were in Montana, Utah, Colorado, etc., as compared with certain eastern points. Emphasis is laid upon the fact that it is in the western states that the sugar industry is established.

Of course, too, the figures were compiled at a time when the market is almost bare of American beet sugar and the sugar entering into consumption is almost entirely made up of imported cane sugar. And, of course, the figures were compiled for the benefit and edification of that class of readers who are either too busy to analyze the situation or who have no means of knowing the origin of the figures, and who care less. Of course, some of them who have heard the claim made by the domestic sugar producers that it is American-made sugar coming into competition with the foreign cane sugar that brings the price down at certain seasons of the year when the home sugar is on the market. They may have a little difficulty in reconciling these two showings.

It would be fairer to take a period of normal years and compare sugar prices prevailing during the months when beet sugar is not a factor with the few months when it is pressing on the market. Even last year, with a world shortage of sugar, there was sufficient competition put up by the home product to bring down the price materially.

HAWAII'S CROP

HONOLULU, Oct. 16.—Manager Allen M. Nowell, of the Sugar Factors Company, now estimates the 1916 crop at 585,000 tons in round numbers. From preliminary reports the 1917 crop may foot up somewhere around 650,000 tons, although the first formal estimate, for shipping purposes, will not be made until after September 15.

Besides the 9,500 tons of sugar which is intended to be shipped by the Floridian in September, there will remain about 7,000 tons of sugar for Eastern delivery, which will go forward from time to time in vessels of the Mason Navigation Company, being transhipped at San Francisco to Philadelphia and New York.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 16.—A summary of the October crop report for the State of California and for the United States, as compiled by the Bureau of Crop Estimates (and transmitted through the Weather Bureau), United States Department of Agriculture, has the following on sugar beets:

California: October 1 condition 93, compared with the ten-year average of 91.

United States: October 1 condition 86.3, compared with the ten-year average of 89.7.

TALKING OF TRUST

There seems to be nothing in the report that the United States government is going to probe the sugar trust. Announcement has been made several times at Washington that the Federal Department of Justice was going to prosecute the sugar refiners for alleged boosting of the market. Officers of the department report that 427,185,758 pounds of raw sugar are held in bond in government warehouses in New York. Stated in pounds this sounds like a great amount, but reduced to tons it amounts only to 194,176 long tons. When it is taken into account that the Cuban crop this year amounted to more than 3,000,000 long tons, the quantity of sugar held in warehouses by refiners does not seem excessive. Thus the quantity held in New York warehouses by refiners is only one-fiftieth of the total Cuban crop.

While the Department of Justice is threatening prosecutions, the Department of Commerce is defending the refiners, claiming that the high price of sugar is caused almost solely by the European war. Their figures show that in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1914, just a month before the war began, this country exported 59,895,725 pounds of sugar. In 1915 the amount exported jumped to 549,007,411 pounds, while in the year ending June 30, 1916, 1,630,150,863 pounds of sugar were sent from the United States to the countries of the old world. The value of this export business during the last fiscal year aggregated $208,000,000. With respect to the storing of raw sugar, the Department of Commerce has made public the following figures, showing the amounts in storage for the year ending August 1, 1915, and for the same period in the three previous years. For 1915 there were 420,130,982 pounds of raw sugar in bonded warehouses in New York; in 1914 there were 396,793,458 pounds; in 1913 there were 422,194,536, and in 1912 there were 161,516,466 pounds of raw sugar stored.

FACTORY IS BUSY

ANAHEIM, Oct. 16.—There is the greatest activity at the Anaheim sugar factory which is running night and day with a force of 220 men. Superintendent D. Jessurun states that this season is certain to surpass the last in the output of sugar and syrup, but notwithstanding this the factory is way behind with its orders. Prices are good.

The rains slackened up the beet shipments for a time but cars have commenced to arrive at the factory in regular order again. Eleven cars arrived Wednesday, each containing thirty-five tons.

HUNTINGTON BEACH POST OFFICE'S GROWTH SHOWN IN REPORTS

But a Few Years Ago Total Receipts Came to Only $1.10 Per Week

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 16.—Postmaster T. C. DeLaurie has issued figures showing the business of the post office for the quarter ending September 30 and has given the figures for the same quarter of 1915. The business this year was $1859.48 and that for the previous year was $1773.19, showing an increase of about 6 per cent. This makes interesting reading when compared with the business of the same office ten years ago. L. N. Clippenger, who was postmaster at that time and who continued to be postmaster until about two years ago, issued a report covering the three years and three months previous to ten years ago.

When the post office was first established the name sent in was that of Pacific City, but this name was rejected by the department, as under the postal laws there can't be two post offices of the same name in any one state. At the suggestion of members of the Huntington Beach Company the name Huntington Beach was then sent in and was accepted by the department. During the first three months of its existence the office did a business amounting to $14.55, or about $1.10 per week. Ten years ago, which was three years and three months after the opening of the office, the total business for the quarter amounted to $682. This was an increase of $158.79 over the business of the preceding year and the corresponding quarter. At the present time, ten years later still the business of the office has again tripled, as shown by the figures already given.

Banner Day, which has been one of the features of the Huntington Beach high school, was observed Monday last, following the reception tendered by the sophomores to the freshmen class. Working on the theory that when the freshmen have been formally received they then are entitled to place their banner upon the walls alongside the banners of other classes, the custom has been adopted of having Banner Day come each year the Monday following the reception.

The place of honor is held by the banner of the senior class, which takes the place of the banner of the outgoing seniors of the last year. Each class banner is then moved up one place to make room for the freshman banner which appears at this time.

A pleasant social was held by the members of the Baptist church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Sundbye on Walnut avenue last week. Several unique games were played. The blindfold drawing contest was won by Miss Melva Rosenberger. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Sundbye.

An entertaining program was given consisting of a sermon, "Old Mother Hubbard," H. T. Sundbye; piano solo, Miss Melva Rosenberger; reading, Mrs. Mary O'Keefe; vocal solo, Mrs. H. T. Sundbye; reading, Miss Margaret Winn; vocal solo, Edward Proemers; reading, Ruth Sundbye; piano solo, Miss Helen Sundbye; reading, Rev. M. W. Coates. Miss Marcia Uford gave a whistling solo.

The first meeting of the Woman's Club in its own club house was held last Tuesday afternoon under the direction of the Civics department of the club. The club house is being furnished gradually and numerous donations from prominent business men were reported. Mrs. T. B. Talbert, chairman of the Civics Committee, acted as chairman for the afternoon.

One feature of the program was the discussion of the lives of the various candidates for the presidency at the present time as well as a discussion of the platform upon which each is running. Mrs. D. W. Huston gave the story of President Wilson's life and told of the platform of the Democratic party. Mrs. T. B. Talbert told of the Prohibition candidate, J. Frank Hanly of Indiana, and told something of his party platform while Mrs. F. E. Wilson told something of the life of Mr. Hughes and the Republican platform. Mrs. Wilson also called upon Mrs. A. E. Yale to tell something of the

RHEUMATISM AFTER HIS DAY'S OUTING

Hunting Trip On a Wet Day Brings Painful Results

—Once upon a time Charles Mullen, of Philadelphia, went gunning. It was a dismal rainy day, and long exposure to cold and wet brought on a severe attack of rheumatism. He was confined to his home.

A friend recommended Sloan's Liniment, citing his own case as evidence of its effectiveness. Mullen bought a bottle and applied it to his aching limbs. Soon improvement was noticed and he was able to return to business. Mr. Mullen writes: "Since that experience I have never been without Sloan's Liniment in the medicine chest." You will find it soothes bruises, sprains, toothache and relieves lame back, neuralgia, in fact all external pains. At all druggists, 25c, 50c, and $1.00 a bottle.—Advertisement.

Mrs. W. T. Newland discussed the method of electing the president. Mrs. G. O. Franklin discussed the propositions and amendments to be voted upon in California at the November election. The next program will be under the direction of the Home Economics department. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. H. L. Heffner, Mrs. H. V. Anderson, Mrs. W. A. Griffith.

The club is delighted with its new home, which, although lacking in furnishings, is cozy and convenient. Efforts will be made to complete the furnishing at an early date and an addition will probably be built soon to be used as kitchen and pantry.

Miss Edith Washburn, a member of last year's graduating class at the high school, was married last week in Santa Ana to Paul Kaspar, an employee of the Holly Sugar Company, who has been with that firm since coming to Huntington Beach from Los Animas, Colo., five years ago.

The wedding was something of a surprise, as no announcement had been made although it must be confessed that the close friends of the young couple were not so much surprised after all. The bride is one of the popular young ladies of Huntington Beach and since her graduation from high school has been employed in the store of J. L. Wyatt.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church meets Wednesday afternoon at the church to make plans for the bazaar to be held shortly before Christmas.

Samuel Gisler reports that his beet crop from flooded land has turned out better than that from the higher land, which did not suffer. However, Gisler had about 125 acres which was flooded for so long that he failed to get a crop in. Seventy-five acres of his crop was raised on flooded land and twenty acres on land which was not flooded.

A reception in honor of Rev. and Mrs. John Robert Coyne will be given by the people of Huntington Beach under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the reception room of the church.

PUTTING VIGOR INTO CAMPAIGN FOR TICKET

Republican Headquarters Arranges For Speakers Known Nationally

Here are the nationally prominent Republican leaders who will stump Southern California for Hughes and Fairbanks and for Gov. Johnson for U. S. Senator.

U. S. Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana. Opens speaking-making itinerary at Los Angeles Thursday night.

Gifford Pinchot, former head of U. S. Forestry Department, and famous as "Father of Conservation."

Raymond Robins, chairman of National Progressive Convention at Chicago last June.

Henry Allen, famous as the "Silver-Tongued Orator" of Kansas.

U. S. Senator Warren Harding of Ohio, chairman of Republican National Committee.

U. S. Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, former presidential possibility and Republican leader in Congress.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17.—Launching a fight which will cover the eight southernmost counties of California and which will have for its object the rolling up of a huge Republican majority for Hughes and Fairbanks on the presidential ticket and for Hiram W. Johnson for U. S. Senator, and with an oratorical artillery corps made up of nationally famed speakers scheduled to stump this part of the state, the Republican State Central Committee has opened headquarters here and is making its first moves in the final campaign to swing California into the "solid Republican" columns at the November election.

Some idea of the fight to be waged for a big Republican victory at the forthcoming election is had in the announcement that U. S. Senator Albert J. Beveridge will open the campaign in Los Angeles Thursday night with an address at Trinity Auditorium and that he will be followed by Gifford Pinchot, Raymond Robins, Henry Allen, U. S. Senator Warren Harding and U. S. Senator William E. Borah, in oratorical itineraries which will include the principal cities in the southern part of the state. The Republican campaign plans of the new headquarters just located here will include Los Angeles, San Diego, Riverside, Imperial, Orange, San Bernardino, Ventura and Santa Barbara counties.

In addition to the sextet of nationally prominent Republican leaders who will stump this section of the state in behalf of the Republican presidential and senatorial nominees, Governor Johnson himself will devote a week to campaigning in the Southland. The week of October 23 to 28 has already been chosen for Governor Johnson's southern campaign and the dates of his speeches in various cities will be announced in a few days.

The turning loose of a battery of 42-centimeter oratorical guns will not be the only big feature of the campaign to be conducted by the southern headquarters of the Republican State Central Committee. Tons of literature dealing with trenchant public issues will be sent out from the new headquarters; speaking itineraries will be arranged for dozens of prominent Southern California Republicans who have volunteered their efforts in helping return a Republican majority at the November election; scores of organizers will be sent out to form Hughes Alliance Clubs; and a news bureau will be maintained which will supply Republican newspapers throughout the southern part of the state with the latest developments in the political situation.

A part of the campaign already mapped out is the formation of Hughes Alliance Clubs in every county seat and larger sized cities in the eight southern counties and the holding of "Hughes Dinner Dinners" in furtherance of the plans for a sweeping Republican victory. Lieut. Gov. Stephens and R. H. Avery, president of the Hughes Alliance of California, will be the principal speakers at these dinners, a dozen of which already have been arranged.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

REV. SCHROCK NAMED CONGREGATIONALIST MODERATOR TODAY

With the election this morning of Rev. P. E. Schrock as moderator of the Los Angeles Congregational Association, and the re-election of E. H.
Williford as registrar, the meeting which began yesterday closed this afternoon.

The following committees were appointed:

Program—W. J. Marsh, M. F. Sanderson, W. H. Sanford.

Credentials—George Morrison, William Hardy, M. F. Rowell.

Licentiate and Administrative—D.
F. Fox, Jno. L. Maile, J. M. Schaeffe.

The four-year centenary program was adopted, to begin now and ending in 1920 with the three-hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims.

Moderator's Address

A powerful and effective plea for church unity and church work marked last night's gathering of the Congregationalists. It was delivered by Rev.
Chester Ferris, pastor of Park Church,
Los Angeles.

"Is the Church Master of Her Task?" was the question that he took for his discourse.

"We have about us a prohibition city, beautiful homes and groves and footpaths," said he, "yet we must ask ourselves if we have measured up to the Master's ideal of service."

"Is it sufficient for us to be mere lightkeepers? To be evangelists? No, we have a task to worship and to win others to worship. We are to bring men into union with God. We must teach with a world vision in business, politics and in every phase of life."

"Are our homes being Christianized? Look at your amusement problem. Solve the amusement problem, and you have saved the young people."

"The fact that there is a war in Europe raises the question as to whether or not the church has mastered its task."

"The church has been doing a great work. Democratic government, social service and the public school system are products of the church."

"By the power of God we shall overcome. The spirit of the Master shall dominate evil. The spirit of Christ shall bring unity, and unity is essential."

The sermon last night was "The Revival of Prophecy." It was preached by Rev. Henry K. Booth.

Morning Session

Splendid music last night and today has enhanced the pleasures of the ciological and welfare workers who the report that their special train is in reality a palatial traveling palace inhabited by a gathering of the wives

TAKES $22.75 WEEK
TO KEEP UP FAMILY
OF 5, SAYS ECONOMIST

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The average citizen is consistently being forced into a lower standard of living because the increase in prices exceeds the increase in wages, W. Frank Persons, an economist, announced as the result of a recent series of investigations.

Persons said that his investigations show that a family of five cannot live on less than $22.75 a week. This he declared to be equivalent to the purchasing value of a $17-a-week income four years ago, foodstuffs having increased 50 per cent in four years.

Flour is up almost 100 per cent; vegetables have advanced from 70 to 110 per cent and coal from $2.25 to $7.45 a ton. Hardware advanced 60 per cent.
Textiles and drugs have made big jumps.

of rural institutions in the University of California and an eminent authority on the subject of rural credits is in

Wilson Plea Asking Warring Rulers to Succor Poles Bared

Failure of Executive to Bring Regents Together In Plan to Reach Agreement For Relief of Starving Millions
Admitted In Shadow Lawn Announcement

SHADOW LAWN, N. J., Oct. 17.—
Because important differences still exist between the allied and central powers under which supplies may be sent to starving Poland, President Wilson today announced, he has "not yet been successful in inducing the powers" to conclude a definite settlement.

The contents of the letter written to the rulers of the belligerent nations was today made public for the first time. It follows:

"Your Majesty:

"In view of the overwhelming disaster which befalls the millions of non-combatants in Poland I feel justified by universal feeling and justified by the expression of the sympathies of Americans regardless of race, origin or political sentiments to suggest to your majesty that ways and means for saving those people still surviving begin to engage the further benevolent consideration of your majesty's government. While none fail to appreciate the suffering and sacrifices of the people primarily engaged in the existing war nor the difficulties of alleviating the hardships of those who are incidental sufferers from the war, the slow or rapid starvation of millions of people is so awful a fact that such an outcome should be averted if it is within the compass of human effort to avert it.

PLEDGES CO-OPERATION OF UNITED STATES

"In such effort I confidently pledge the co-operation of the people of the United States. May I therefore suggest that entirely fresh consideration be given the method of relief for Poland, and tender the friendly offices of this government to negotiate to this end."

"In conclusion I can only add my sincere hope that your majesty will see in this note no attempt to interfere with the rights and policies of your majesty's government, but merely an attempt to express to your majesty the sympathy and compassion felt by the citizens of the United States for the starving inhabitants of Poland."

"I have the honor to be, your majesty,

"Faithfully yours,
WOODROW WILSON."

NEUTRALITY LAW VIOLATED BY U. S. CHARGE

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Charges that U. S. destroyers violated the laws of neutrality when they stood by and watched the U-53 sink British merchantmen were made in the House of Lords this afternoon when Lord Beresford declared that the appearance of the destroyers on the scene made it appear that they were present by a pre-arranged plan. Presumably he referred to newspaper suggestions that the U-53's commander might have asked the United States naval authorities to send out destroyers. Viscount Grey declared the issue raised by the presence of United States destroyers is most important. He said the government would withhold representations until it gathered information regarding the statement that destroyers facilitated operations of the U-boat by getting out of its way.

ROBT. E. LEE STATUE IS DEDICATED TODAY

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Oct. 17.—The much discussed monument to General Robert E. Lee, commander of the Conburg, was dedicated on Gettysburg field here today. The monument stands the Round Tops and is a tribute to A Son of Virginia. Many prominent men and women from both North and South were present for the dedication.

the local military tribunal, said his duty was to kill germs, not Germans.
He was granted a month's exemption from joining the army.

GOLDBERG, IT'S ALL WRONG' CARTOONIST, WEDDED IN N. Y. TODAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—When Reuben L. Goldberg, the New York Evening Mail cartoonist whose income is said to be $100,000 a year, turned out his mystery cartoon, "It's All Wrong, Irma, It's All Wrong," his friends wondered who Irma might be. Goldberg was married here today to Miss Irma Seeman, daughter of Sigel W. Seeman, a wholesale grocer.

Goldberg saw Miss Seeman for the first time at a restaurant with her parents about a year ago. It was several months later that he met her. Goldberg is a quiet young man, who does not use the expressions: "I'm the guy," "I never thought of that," "It's All Wrong," "Father was right," except in his cartoons. Goldberg is a native of San Francisco. He came to New York

Hughes' Record Clean As a Hound's Tooth

(By Porter Emerson Brown.)

Hughes has a record as clean as a hound's tooth, and as straight as a sapling. That you must admit whether you like him or not.

When he investigated the insurance scandals in New York, he didn't sit down and write notes to the perpetrators thereof. He went at them calmly, capably, firmly; and he put them through the hoops like bareback riders.

He never played politics. You never caught any of Hughes' appointees asking for places for deserving Republicans. If he had, inside of five minutes said appointee would have been out looking for a similar situation himself.

Look over Hughes' life and you will find that he has read broadly, traveled broadly, thought broadly. He has been honest. He has been fearless. He has never traded, never truckled.

When he has said a thing he has meant it. When he has said he'd do a thing, he has done it. When he was governor of New York, he appointed men not because they were deserving Republicans, but because they were the right men for the right places. He closed the family entrance to the Capitol; he abolished the habit of whispering so prevalent among politicians. Anybody that had anything to say to him had to Speak Right Out Loud.

The meeting has been arranged by people of Orange. The following officials of the Salt Lake will be pres-

Nutt, general manager; F. A. Wann, general traffic manager; T. M. Stowe, general freight agent; D. C. Peck, general attorney; T. P. Cullen, superintendent; C. C. Barry, auditor; F. H.

It was also learned today from the though Southern Pacific tracks will probably be used temporarily.

COMPANY L BOYS MAY BE HOME IN TIME TO VOTE

Soldiers At Nogales Expected To Leave For Los Angeles Tomorrow

Whether members of Company L will be home in time to vote will depend upon how long it takes to muster them out of service. It now seems certain that the company will be in Los Angeles by the end of this week.

According to advices received in Los Angeles last night from Gen. Wankowski, the Seventh Regiment will leave Nogales tomorrow and will arrive in Los Angeles Friday or Saturday.

California Ambulance Company No. 1 arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and went into camp at Exposition Park.

The military committee of the Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles has plans in hand for extending the returning soldiers a warm welcome upon their return.

The Los Angeles City Council has refused to make an appropriation of $3000 for the purpose and private subscriptions will be taken to defray the expense of the home-coming reception. The regiment will be mustered out in Los Angeles instead of at Sacramento.

ELLIOTT TAKES CHARGE OF MATEER'S FOUNTAIN

Jess Elliott, one of the best known of the soda dispensers of Santa Ana, has taken charge of the fountain at Mateer's drug store. For more than a dozen years Jess, as he is familiarly known, has presided over one or the other of the local fountains and is popular with everybody. He states that the best of everything in soda fountain refreshments will be dispensed and that lunches of good, appetizing home cooked food will be served in the most satisfactory fashion in his new place of business and invites his friends to call and see him.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens
So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

—The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drugstores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

Many Ducks Bagged As Season Opens; Quail Said Scarce

Shotgun Army Invade Hills and Vales, Return With Varying Tales

Many a table is being graced with succulent quail, rabbits and ducks, as the result of the opening of the season on these varieties of game Sunday. Then, again, many an epicure who had been planning on feasts of game, was doomed to disappointment—for, though everyone who has a license and a scattergun may hunt, not everyone who tramps the hills and vales is successful in returning with trophies of the chase.

In the "also hunted" class belongs Gavvy Cravath. "Cactus" is a demon with the shotgun—sometimes, for Sunday he went out with Al Goff and Grover Besser and returned to his Laguna Beach castle with nary a bird to his credit. Al Goff, one of the best shotgun artists in this neck o' the woods, got only a half dozen quail or so, though he did bring down seven ducks.

Ducks are plentiful, judging from reports brought in by hunters. Indeed, the nimrods who blaze away at the ducks and shun the other varieties of game fare well. Road hunters encounter the best of luck nearly everywhere, especially below the sugar factories south of Santa Ana. Sprig, teal and spoonbill varieties are being brought down in goodly numbers. From five to eighteen birds per hunter is the general rule.

Quail are scarce, is the verdict of Victor Walker, who shot twelve, and Jack Warner and George Busenotte, both of Placentia, who each bagged the limit, Sunday.

Twenty-two gunners were counted in the Bolsa Chica Gun Club Sunday. Among the hunters there were J. A. Turner, Ed Larter, J. T. Lewis, Fred Mallett and Gus Ward. All got limits.

Doves are flying "a mile high," the hunters say. Rabbits are being passed up, generally, as the other varieties are considered more tempting by the nimrods.

L. A. PHONE MERGER BEFORE RAILROAD COMMISSIONER

Hearing on the application of the Southern California Telephone Company to merge the properties of the Sunset and Home Telephone companies in Los Angeles was taken up yesterday in Los Angeles before State Railroad Commissioners Gordon and Thelan.

In brief, the following is the merger proposition: Southern California Telephone Company to take over both Home and Sunset.

No rate increase for two years. Possibly not then.

Duplicate phones to be removed, 15,000.

Universal service to be given.

Both Sunset and United States long distance service to be provided.

Subscriber to have his choice between automatic and manual phone.

Cost of merging, $710,000.

Telephones involved, 128,000.

Total investment valuation, $15,250,000.

City to be asked to transfer Home franchise and Federal government to grant merger approval.

Will Effect Santa Ana

Consolidation of the two systems in Los Angeles will be directly beneficial to Santa Ana in that subscribers to either system here will have direct service with both lines in Los Angeles.

The incorporated name of the company which will operate the consolidated systems indicates that it has been organized with a view to extending its operations to all parts of Southern California. The Los Angeles Home Telephone Company is entirely distinct and separate from the Home company here.

The official name of the company operating the Santa Ana exchange is the Union Home Telephone and Telegraph Company, with exchanges located at Ventura, Long Beach, San Pedro, Wilmington, Anaheim, Garden Grove, San Bernardino, Rialto, Highlands and Colton. Should this company be absorbed by the Southern California Telephone Company it would mean consolidation of both systems in the cities named.

Consolidation at Santa Barbara has already been approved at Santa Barbara and a hearing on a petition for merging at Riverside will be heard by the Railroad Commission within the next few weeks.

SIGN CONTRACT FOR NEW POLY BUILDING TO COST $6,876

Bishop and Cole Successful Bidders For Brick Manual Structure

Signatures were scheduled to be affixed today to a contract between Bishop and Cole, contractors, and the Santa Ana Board of Education for the construction, at a price of $6876, of a brick building adjoining on the east the forge-shop building south of the main Polytechnic High School group of buildings last year. The new structure, which it is planned to have completed by the holidays, will be used, with the forge shop, to house the entire manual training department of the high school.

Bids for the work were opened yesterday. Plans had been drawn up by Architects Elwing and Tedford and call for a structure 60x100 feet. The dimensions of the forge shop are 30x60 feet.

School Trustee F. L. Andrews today stated that the board is desirous of having the new building completed by holiday time in order that the work of moving the equipment to the new quarters may be accomplished by the time school opens again after the first of the year.

Following are the bids, the first figures being for a brick and plaster type of building and the second for a concrete:

George C. Congdon, Los Angeles, $9000, $9200; H. C. Garber, Orange, $7554, $7851; A. J. Crawford, $7692, $8080; Simon Fluor, $7937, $8327; George C. Pickering, $5580, $5795; E. W. Smith, $7584, $8327; R. C. McMillan, $8100, $8600; George C. Preble, $7742, $8555; A. C. Black, $10,168, $10,668; Bishop and Cole, $6876, $7194.

BIG ROUND UP HUGE SUCCESS

Feed In River Bottom Brings 200 Boys From All Over Orange County

The first big Orange County Y. M. C. A. affair of the season was held last Saturday evening near the Santa Ana West Fifth street bridge. Here nearly 200 members of Y. M. C. A. clubs gathered for their fall round-up and rally. The clubs brought their own grub, which was cooked over their own camp fires. To the many passersby the river bed took on the appearance of primeval days with the many fires surrounded by tribes of hungry savages.

After this most essential part of the program the big bonfire was lighted and all gathered around it for games, songs, stunts and talks. In the tug-of-war between twenty husky youths from outside Santa Ana and the same number from that city the country boys carried off the honors.

County Secretary Cole took charge of the campfire program. He commented on the fine condition of the twenty-eight clubs meeting weekly in the eleven communities of the county and encouraged the boys in their good work. He stated that the big silver loving cup won last year by the Hustlers of Santa Ana was again to be given to the best all-around club, the same to be decided by the point system, which he outlined. He also stated that the basket ball schedule would soon be made, and called for a complete list of prospective players with weights and ages.

E. E. Tinscher, a Long Beach attorney and popular entertainer of that place, was then introduced and kept things lively with his comical readings. The main event of the evening was the speech by Tom Clay of Los Angeles. He spoke on the subject, "Taking Sides" and outlined in a very strong and interesting way the importance of taking sides and standing for things which are right.

Secretary Cole closed the program with an appeal to the fellows to make this the best year yet for the County Y. M. C. A. work. The next big event for the county boys will be the Older Boys' Conference, to be held at Pasadena, December 1, 2 and 3, when a picked group of about fifty fellows from this county will be entertained by the Pasadena association and have the privilege of meeting with about 500 other young men of Southern California.

SEMI-ANNUAL SALE OF KITCHEN CABINETS

One of the popular features of the Horton-Spurgeon furniture store, is their semi-annual sale of Hoosier kitchen cabinets. Spring and autumn for the past several years these sales have been conducted with unvarying success and as a result hundreds of Orange county kitchens have been modernized at a very moderate cost by installing the Hoosier kitchen cabinet. This convenient piece of kitchen furniture combines cupboard, pantry and kitchen work table, in a single compact cabinet which saves the housewife miles of steps.

During these special sales, one of which is now in progress, the cabinets are sold on most liberal terms and housewives who like—nice kitchens need not fail to see the fine display of the cabinets in the Horton-Spurgeon Company's show window.

Plush Coats, just received to sell at $22.50. Real Salts plush in the late styles. Others up to $37.50, at Gilbert's. Take the elevator.

TWO SANTA ANANS GO EAST, ONE TO TOUCH SNOW THE FIRST TIME

On Thursday Ransom Reid, city water superintendent, and his wife start for a trip East, where they will see snow fly and where they will visit their son, Leland, at Kenwood, N. Y. Mrs. Reid has seen snow on the top of Old Baldy and Saddleback and a few places miles away, but she has never made a snowball and has never seen skating on ice but once, that once being in a rink at San Diego.

Reid has been in California for thirty-five years, and has never been east during that time. Mr. and Mrs. Reid will go to Kenwood, where Leland is in charge of a laboratory in the same shops in which the Santa Ana superintendent got his mechanical training, which is A-N-I, and in which the superintendent's father was master mechanic. While on the trip the Santa Anans will stop in Iowa to visit relatives of Mrs. Reid.

Leland does not know that his parents are going to visit him. That he may not know of their intentions, his father has successfully arranged that Leland's copy of today's Register, to which Leland subscribes, be kept out of the mail.

VALUES AND USES TUNGSTEN SHOWN

Why is tungsten a valuable metal? Is asked by many who are continually hearing about the price of tungsten without knowing of its use or peculiarities. An expert gives the following facts on this metal.

"Tungsten, the metal, never occurs pure in nature, but generally is in the form of wolframite or scheelite, the former a black heavy metal of sub-metallic luster having a specific gravity of about 7½, a tungstate of iron and manganese slightly varying in tungstic acid content but generally about 64 per cent.

"Scheelite is a heavy crystalline substance with a satin luster, generally white, light brown or light yellow color, about the same specific gravity as wolframite, but when pure carrying as high as 82 per cent tungstic acid.

"Tungsten is used in the arts for glass coloring, pottery glazing, dyeing textile fabrics, paper staining, printing, etc. Alloyed with copper and aluminum it will resist acid similar to glass. Alloyed with aluminum it can be spun or woven. It makes many useful alloys. It was in unlimited demand in tungsten alloyed electrical apparatus and is familiar in the tungsten incandescent electric globes. The superiority of certain German armament in the present war has demonstrated the absolute necessity of the use of tungsten in the tempering of steel. As a consequence the allies as well as the United States are using it in the manufacture of war implements.

"It will temper steel not only with toughness but of the most extreme hardness, a combination which makes the use of tungsten invaluable. All high speed steel is now tempered with tungsten since it is found that tungsten steel can be heated red hot and not lose its temper. As much as 7 per cent tungstic acid is used in some steel tempering. Our highest authorities state that tungsten will remain one of our most valuable and essential metals.

"Tungsten will never again be produced as when the price was $100 per unit. Then every stringer was worked on until exhausted. Then little pieces down as small as an egg were carried in to buyers, in saloons and cashed for money or trade, and in the aggregate by all methods of mining thousands of tons were accumulated and in the end the market was flooded. Eliminating the job lots and second and third commission agents, the metal is now selling from $18 to $22 per unit of 6 per cent ore, although when under the mercy of the job lotters small lots are sold as low as $15 at present.

GRANDMOTHER'S MEDICINES

—Our grandmothers were wise in the virtues of the herbs of the field. They used to gather and store roots and herbs and use them to cure the ailments of their families—wormwood, thoroughwort, sage, rue, camomile—the list might go on and on of the healing plants with which they made us familiar.

Now their grand-daughters get the extracts from just such good old roots and herbs, from the nearest druggist, ready prepared for use. One such medicine, which women find best for their own ailments, is the well-known Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.—Advertisement.

CALLAHAN HAS PUT TEAM ON CONTENDER ROSTER

BY H. C. HAMILTON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Jimmy Callahan, who made way for Clarence Rowland when Charley Comiskey decided Callahan was not the man to manage the White Sox into an American league pennant, has done some things to the Pirates which may elevate the Pittsburgh club to a point where it again will become a pennant contender. Jimmy has tinkered here and there, dropped players, changed the positions of others, and has put a little more all around fight into nearly every corner of the squad.

Fred Clarke bequeathed Callahan several good ball players, among them being, of course, Hans Wagner. Callahan also found Max Carey, Al Marmaux, Bill Hinchman, Douglas Baird, Doc Johnson, Cooper, Bob Harmon, Dan Costello, Jimmy Voix, Gibson and Murphy. Of these only a few remain and their places are being filled by youngsters who are learning to play the Callahan brand of baseball.

Callahan always has been a marvel at developing pitchers. Glance over the record he made with the White Sox. He left behind him what once was a most wonderful collection of slab artists, among them being Joe Benz, Reb Russell, Jim Scott, and Eddie Cicotte.

Urban Faber also had his major league baptism under Callahan tutelage. Consequently, one would expect Callahan's pitchers to be the brightest spot in the new Pirates, and the expectation is well founded. Callahan already has begun to build up a pitching staff which in time should give an excellent account of itself.

Grimes, a youngster from the south, is one of the most promising. Already he has won his spurs in fast company and will be given all the opportunity in the world next spring. There is no use to discuss Al Marmaux. He has been a star for several years. Evans also appears to be a comer, and two others who spent their first year in the majors this season are Miller and Jacobs.

Warner and Baird are the candidates for third base and both are fine performers. Jimmy Smith, shortstop, is a miraculous felder, but woefully weak as a hitter. Carson Bigbee, a real hitter, but an outfielder by rights, has done such good work at second base that he may be retained in that position. There is little chance that Doc Johnson and Hans Wagner will not split the first basing duties between them next season.

Bill Hinchman may be out of a big league job next year but Max Carey and Farmer are two excellent fly chasers and one more man would round out a fairly efficient outfield. Callahan finished fifth this year, in the same place where Fred Clarke finished. There are reasons to believe he will do better in 1917.

SELLING TICKETS TO LYCEUM COURSE

"Give me three season tickets," said a prominent Santa Ana citizen today, when he was approached by a member of the Lyceum committee.

"I wouldn't miss the Lyceum course for $10. Personally I consider it one of the three greatest assets of any town—they are church, school, and lyceum."

That the above remark is the opinion shared by many Santa Anans is evidenced by the number of inquiries that have come in regarding the course. The course picked for Santa Ana is the highest priced course to be given in the state this year. The talent is the most expensive ever brought to this city. It is the cream of the Redpath list, and Redpath Bureau keeps between one hundred and one hundred and fifty attractions on the road the year round.

Today a goodly number of high school students are at work making a house-to-house canvass for tickets, while the business district is being cared for under the personal direction of Superintendent Cranston and Rev. J. A. Stevenson. All indications point to a large advance sale, a satisfying guarantee to the backers of the course that they made no mistake in placing the price of the season tickets as low as they have.

Small circulars, window cards, posters and other effective forms of advertising are being distributed today. Further announcement regarding the course will be made in the Register tomorrow night.

VOTE BONDS

To the condition of the North Main street bridge, pointed out at last night's meeting of the City Trustees, there is but one answer.

Build a new reinforced concrete bridge.

The sooner that bridge is built, the better it will be for the Santa Ana of today and the Santa Ana of the future.

Whatever improvement makes for permanency in city building is preferable to temporary makeshifts. Sometimes city finances are such that extensive expenditures, however advisable they may be, are impossible without a bond issue.

In contemplating the North Main street bridge, Santa Ana finds itself in that situation.

The bridge is safe for ordinary traffic. However, the advent of good roads has developed truck transportation to a degree that was not dreamed of four or five years ago. The truck with a trailer is growing into a train. Last winter a Los Angeles transfer company in hauling sugar from the local factories to Los Angeles used from five to eight trailers. The tonnage that can be pulled on the paved roads is enormous.

The wear and tear caused by new factors in transportation is causing the authorities no small amount of trouble, and to provide protection for the roads special legislation will be required.

The bridge that was safe for any traffic that might come its way five years ago, is today considered unsafe. The North Main street bridge is a bridge of that kind. Any attempts to brace it so that it will carry in safety twice the load it can carry now, will be mere makeshift, and, even if done, will not be adequate to the traffic. Suppose it was made safe for forty tons. What is to prevent one truck and trailer bearing that amount meeting on the bridge another truck and trailer bearing an equal tonnage?

Again, the answer is: Build a new reinforced concrete bridge.

The bridge should be made adequate for the needs of a growing city and for an enormous traffic. It should be built with a view to accommodating the year that will grow greater year by year.

It should be built with a roadway on the east side of the P. E. rails for traffic going south.

The matter has reached the point where the people of Santa Ana should demand immediate action. The City Trustees have been loath to call a bond election for any purpose, because they know that there has developed a temporary feeling against more bonds.

Rather than put the city to the expense of what might be a useless election, they have called for no bonds.

With the City Trustees the North Main street bridge, however, has become a personal as well as a public liability and menace. Because the bridge is not adequate to the needs of traffic, the trustees are liable for damages, should the bridge go down.

It is neither right nor fair for the people of this city to expect the trustees to hold the sack.

The city needs the bridge. It ought to get rid of the one it has, if for no other purpose than for the sake of appearances.

At the city has other pressing needs. Among them is the need of a city-owned outfall sewer. At present, the sewage is taken to the sea in a privately-owned outfall.

The trustees ought to lay before the people at an early date the needs of the city, and ask that they be given the money with which to do the things that ought to be done.

If by any chance the Adamson law is held valid, Congress will have not only the power to raise the wages of the country's common carriers but also to reduce these wages and to prohibit strikes as a crime against the government. It would seem that the brotherhoods drew a prize they were not looking for.

THE MIXER IN POLITICS

One of the first questions the politicians ask about a candidate is, "Is he a mixer?" A great many men who enter politics find that they have a taste and aptitude for the problems of public business, but when it comes to hobnobbing with Tom, Dick and Harry, they feel very awkward about it. They do it in so forced and artificial a manner that Tom, Dick and Harry feel constrained in their presence and vote for the other fellow.

Winning ways capture many elections. It is a great art to be able to meet one's fellow citizens in a pleasing manner. Some of our statesmen feel perfectly at home among strangers at a farmers' picnic or a cattle show. They say pleasant and graceful things naturally. They like people and enjoy mingling with all classes of society. This pleasure becomes reciprocal and wins friendship and political support.

It not infrequently happens that a very worthy man is turned down for lack of social graces. He may have a fine record of service and sound judgment, but if he is reserved and reticent and inclined to hold himself aloof, he may not be considered available to make a campaign. It is not that he feels any pride or contempt for the common run of people. He simply doesn't know what to say when he meets them and can't for the minute get on common ground with them.

The man of substantial judgment who aspires to a political career, or is willing from public spirit to take office, must cultivate social affability. He needs to be able to turn out small talk, yet he must not be too effusive, particularly just before election. He must be sincere and honest in his good fellowship.

The average voter needs to watch out for the politician whose only asset is the smile and the glad hand. That kind of a politician is a menace, for he is without stamina that is a necessary factor in the make up of a good, clean, efficient public official.

THE ISSUES OF NOVEMBER

NO. 3

(Special Political Correspondence of the Register.)

Early in the Wilson administration it became apparent that nothing was being accomplished by the anti-trust prosecutions. Dissolutions of several trusts did not reduce any prices of necessities of life. They made the trust stocks more valuable. It was nothing but transferring money from one pocket to another.

As nothing was being gained, and the Supreme Court having interpreted the law by the Rule of Reason, the course of the administration was clear. A common sense government would have gone slow on futile and costly litigation that amounted to no more than drawing chalk lines through the offices of the trusts. Instead, the government continued its bitter fight against the big industrial organizations, throwing a chill over all business enterprise.

The railroads, unable to gain any considerable increase of rates, although the cost of operation was rapidly increasing, stopped expansion and cut down to the limit all expenses for new equipment. This paralyzed leading industries.

An enormous volume of exports will stop short if peace is declared, probably much before that. Then will come a competition such as was never seen before. A hungry man will accept starvation wages if it means getting an order for trade or foreign trade that we have had. With Europe's superb technical efficiency and with literally pauper labor, it is easy to see the finish of many American industries unless proper protection is given those industries.

There is a solemn pledge—a covenant as it were—given to the people by the Democratic party in convention assembled. "The constitutional rights of American citizens," it reads, "protect them on the borders and go with them through the world, and every American citizen residing or having property in any foreign country, is entitled to and must be given the full protection of the United States government both for himself and his property."

That is the preface to the policy of rapid vacillation. That is the inaugural policy for the policy of strong words and weak deeds.

There was a pledge for the creation of a council of national defense, made before the war in Europe, but in spite of the lessons of European warfare, none has been created.

Four years have elapsed since anarchy first ravaged Mexico and two since war engulfed Europe. For four years the administration has contemplated anarchy in Mexico. For two it has witnessed the spread of what is almost a world war. And yet, in December of 1915, the President said on the subject of preparedness: "We shall not alter our attitude toward it, because some of us are nervous and excited."

Is "Keeping Us Out of War?"

On March 25, a month before the publication of the first American note to his death on the Falaba, torpedoed by a submarine, and on May 7, nearly six score Americans—strong men, mothers and little children found their graves in the Atlantic when the Lusitania went to the doom appointed by a notice of the German embassy in the public press of America. This was sixty days after the government at Washington received the peremptory notice that submarine warfare would be waged on the high seas; eighty-five days after the government at Washington notified Germany that it would hold her to a "strict accountability" for any loss or injury to Americans. Three Americans were killed by a submarine on the very first of May, when they appeared that warning by the German embassy.

Who sent for the German ambassador on May 2, to demand the public withdrawal of the notice of May 1? No one speaking for the people of the United States, nor did any officer of the American people send prompt and peremptory notice through the American embassy in Berlin to the government there. On May 10, 1915, the President said, in Philadelphia, that the United States was "too proud to fight," and on the 13th sent Germany notice that the United States "will omit no word or action to preserve the rights of the citizens upon the high seas," but on May 17, Mr. Bryan told the Austrian ambassador that the President did not mean what the note of the 13th said. The second Lusitania note was dispatched on June 9. At that time four ships carrying Americans had been attacked on the high seas and six score lives lost. On the 9th of July, the Orduña was attacked. It was on the 21st that the third Lusitania note was dispatched and on July 25 that the Leelanaw was attacked. The 19th of August witnessed the sinking of the Arabic, with the death of Americans; the fourth of September the sinking of the Hesperian, and the ninth of November the sinking of the Anona, when ten more Americans died. On the 13th of December the steamer Persia was destroyed in the Mediterranean and a consul of the United States service was drowned—eleven months after the dispatch of the "strict accountability note." That was not the end. Other steamers were attacked; other Americans injured. The correspondence continued until May of this year. Never in the history of modern nations did braver words bear more bitter fruit.

The contempt with which the government at Berlin has received the communications of the government of the United States is only equalled by the disdain in which the communications of the American government have been received in London. In February, 1915, on the identical day on which we sounded the clarion note of "strict accountability" we first addressed the British government. In the twelve months which followed we sent an even dozen of arguments, remonstrances, demands and high sounding moralities to the government of His Majesty's Majesty, with the result that His Majesty's government has deviated not a whit from the course which it laid down for itself in the blockade of northern waters, or in the seizure and search of the United States mails.

As for Mexico—four times the embargo upon arms has been raised and lowered. The American dead at Carrizal and those who died at Vera Cruz died by American bullets, aimed by Mexican hands. You can almost hear from across the Rio Grande the snigger which greets each successive note, the snigger which greets each new retreat.

Our government decided that because there was blood upon his hands, Huerta must go, and that because the American flag must be saluted we must seize Vera Cruz, and we learned that the seizure was not to force the demand for a salute, but to prevent the landing of arms. We got no salute and arms were landed at Puerto, Mexico, instead of at Vera Cruz. Huerta went and for a season we blinded our eyes to the sanguinary stains upon the hands of Villa and Carranza and recognized them equally. Then because Villa accepted our invitation to conference and Carranza disdainfully declined to do so, we recognized Carranza!

We are still at peace, but we have forfeited the friendship and the confidence of the world, and we have accomplished nothing by the loss. And during the long course of query and threat and pedagogic demand, not a gun, not a ship, not a man was added to the roll until the impending election invited the administration to another ready abandonment of its position, so as to conciliate a patriotic and indignant country.

If we had armed in season, if readiness, if ability to act had supported the spoken word, who does not believe that American freights and American citizens would have ridden more freely and more safely upon the high seas? Who does not believe that there might be alive and at home today, men whose bones now written on the sands of Chihuahua, or children whose little bodies rest in the deep? Who does not know there would be happy by the hearths of their husbands, women ravished by bandits in Mexico, almost in sight of the American border? If the spokesman for the nation had not said that "we are too proud to fight"; if he had not denounced the rising resolution of the people as nervousness and excitement; if, in the discharge of the duties of his office he had summoned the country two years ago, a year ago, to make ready, as now half-heartedly he confesses he must, who will gainsay that Mexico, Germany and England would have paid some heed to the voice of a hundred million Americans?

An Appeal to American Citizens

The countries of Europe have proved man's capacity to subordinate the selfish interest of the individual to the welfare of the nation. They have learned that what is best for all is best for each. We must win the same consecration for America, out of the nation's humiliation which we, as Republicans or Progressives have been powerless to avert. We must regain the place now lost, the place we held when John Hay spoke for us in the council of the nation.

The issue is between patronage, pork and the parochial policy of the Democracy on one hand, and on the other the demand for a more genuine Americanism. Would you have a government national and not sectional? Would you have one conscious of the national meaning of complex modern industry at home and of the good name and authority of the nation abroad? Or, would you have one which, in our domestic affairs would exalt the state over the nation, or which, abroad, would exalt an empty internationalism at the expense of every American, is the Republican party. The Democracy may seek to compromise, we will not. We must join to us not only those who parted company four years ago, but all who would give this country a government which, respecting others, itself will command respect and restore to America the moral authority which at Portsmouth ended war in Asia and at Algeiras induced peace in Europe. Out of the fearful pangs of the war, the countries of Europe have had a spiritual rebirth. We, Americans, must strive for a like inspiration. We are not now called upon to die that liberty may live, but we are summoned to so live that liberty and honor may not die.—Medill McCormick.

UNITED STATES' WARDS

Travel Club Hears Article on Isles, Haiti, San Domingo and Nicaragua

At a very pleasant and profitable meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Bishop on North Main street, the first section of the Travel Club of the Ebell listened to a very interesting article from the Geographical Magazine on "Wards of the United States, Santo Domingo, Haiti and Nicaragua." Much information was gained as to these possessions.

The home was very prettily decorated with Cécile Brunner roses and there were fourteen members to enjoy the meeting.

In the absence of the leader, Mrs. J. P. Baumgartner, Mrs. E. B. Smith, the vice president, presided. It was hoped that Mrs. Baumgartner would be at home before the next meeting, which will take place in three weeks.

The members were saddened by the news of the dangerous illness of one of their old and popular members, Miss Mary Cotter, who was taken sick about a week ago at her home in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Bishop served delicious lap refreshments to the members before they departed.

Official Notice

Mrs. Belle Rogers, chairman of the committee, announces that those who are to take part in the production of "Columbia's New Republic" are requested to appear at the first M. E. church each evening for rehearsal.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the following simple bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, cold tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, biliousness, stomach trouble, rheumatism, skin eruptions, who have yellow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced 'crank' on the subject of internal sanitation.

NORTHERN POSSESSION

"Alaska" Subject For Travel Class Two, Following Delightful Luncheon

Beautiful cactus dahlias and great yellow chrysanthemums supplied the autumn tints in the living room and blended with the Halloween favors, consisting of goblins, witches and jack-o'-lanterns which dominated the dainty luncheon, which was served at 1 o'clock yesterday to the members of the second section of the Ebell Travel class at the home of Mrs. George S. Balderston.

The meeting will long remain a delightful memory to those fortunate enough to enjoy the afternoon.

"Alaska" was the subject of the afternoon's program, and the roll-call "Alaskan Curios" was responded to by the members, a number of interesting specimens being shown.

The paper read by Mrs. S. M. Dearing, of Orange, was especially interesting and by vote of the section will be placed in the hands of the General Curator.

At the close of the program, a social hour was enjoyed and a number of new records, on the Grafonola, were listened to and greatly appreciated.

Twins' Sixth Birthday

One of the most pleasant of last week's social affairs in children's circles was the birthday party of Juanita and Orla Ellis. The party was given Saturday at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ellis, on First and Olive streets.

The parlor was decorated with beautiful pink rose buds and maiden hair fern. The table was very artistically decorated for the occasion. Little baskets of nuts tied with fluffy bows and little dolls were used as place cards. The dainty luncheon was carried out in the pink color scheme. They received many beautiful birthday gifts. After the feast was over the children were taken to Birch Park, where they enjoyed many lively games. Mrs. Ellis was assisted in receiving and entertaining by Mrs. Bunker.

The little guests present were Mildred Vierra, Francis Vierra, Marvel Barnes, Bruce Vegeley, Clark Sackman, Gertrude Winkler, Herbert Haines, Edward Baker, Heath Wicks, Leona and Luella Berge, Thelma Obar, Gladys Vest, Edith Harding, Eleanor Reid, Marcene Cook.

All Day Meeting

The Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian Church will hold an all day meeting at the church, Wednesday, Oct. 18. The morning session will begin at 10 o'clock and the afternoon at 2. Lunch will be served and social intercourse enjoyed at the noon hour.

Each society will have part in both the morning and afternoon program. Dr. Mary A. Irwin of Siam will speak. This address will be of unusual interest as it is the first opportunity to hear direct from the work in Siam.

Bring thimble, needle, and scissors as there are two comforts to be tied. Tea and coffee will be served with the basket lunches.

A cordial invitation is extended to all ladies of the congregation.

ANNOUNCEMENT LUNCH

Miss Myrtle Garner's Engagement Told of At Home In Artesia

Mrs. and Mrs. E. O. Garner of Artesia announced the engagement of their daughter Myrtle, formerly a high school student here, to Charles Gerald McComber of Buena Park, by a luncheon on Saturday, Oct. 14. The color scheme, which was red and white, was beautifully worked out in the decorations and refreshments.

The secret was given away to the surprised guests, when Miss Helen Taylor suggested to the company that they investigate the meaning of the ribbons suspended from the chandelier. Their curiosity was satisfied when they pulled the ribbons and found attached cupids with extended arms bearing two small hearts inscribed with the names of the engaged couple.

The date was not announced, but Dame Rumor prophesies it will be before the holidays.

Those enjoying the pleasant afternoon were: Misses Mary Campbell, Anna Marshall, Edith Brown, Mrs. Goodwin and Mrs. G. M. Garner, of Artesia; the out of town guests were Mrs. McComber and Wanda Simpson, of Buena Park; Pauline Rives of Downey; Mrs. Herbert Decker, of San Fernando; Misses Greba Scott, Dixie Perkins and Emily West of Los Angeles; Linna Yarnell, Dolly and Violet Twist, Beth Phillips, Jessie Gardner and Mrs. Willard Nelson of Santa Ana; Mrs. J. F. A. Somerby and S. H. Barrett, both of Los Angeles, are here today as representatives of the Tri-State Good Roads Association, in furtherance of plans to awaken interest in the success of the proposal for $15,000,000 good roads bonds to be voted on in November. "The matter will be taken up at the next meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce," said Somerby. "We believe that the people of Southern California ought to vote strongly in favor of the bonds, for certainly good roads have become a wonderful asset to this state."

Edison and Ford

—NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Thomas A. Edison and Henry Ford, arm in arm, walked into the office of Chairman Vance C. McCormick at Democratic national headquarters today. They wanted to find out how they could best direct their efforts to insure Wilson's re-election.

"Give the people the facts," declared Mr. Edison, "and it will be a Wilson landslide. No president ever faced such problems, no president ever made such a record of achievements. It is not alone that Woodrow Wilson has statesmanship, he has leadership, too. I have always been a Republican, but I put my country above party. In a world crisis, with the fate of America in the balance, I would take shame to myself if I did not put myself behind a man who has given us peace with honor, prosperity with justice and preparedness without militarism."

Mr. Ford was no less emphatic. "Like Mr. Edison," he said, "I am a Republican. But I cannot stay with a party that puts office-seeking first and America last. President Wilson has saved the United States from the horrors and desolation of international war. He has saved us from industrial wreck. His domestic policies have given new strength to legitimate enterprise, protected the worker, emancipated the children and destroyed evils that were sapping the courage of America. He is a great president. More than that, he is the greatest American."

"Never were issues so plain, Woodrow Wilson stands for America, for an undivided allegiance, for equal justice and for the welfare of many. Against him are all the forces of rapacity, special privilege, eager to get back their loaded dice, the exploiters of children and greedy concessionaires. It is their millions against Americanism."

"President Wilson's rebuke to Jeremiah O'Leary could be as fittingly applied to Theodore Roosevelt. Both are engaged in the effort to make Europe a war issues the paramount question in American politics, to the neglect of matters that are actually of vital concern to the American people. To bring about this pernicious result Roosevelt and O'Leary stand shoulder to shoulder in the fight upon Wilson."

With Malice Toward None

By Henry James

The Purist
The purist is the person who picks flaws in the language of another. As a rule the flaw is so apparent that anybody of intelligence might have pointed an ink finger of scorn at it, but was prevented by the fact of being intelligent. Formerly the split infinitive was a source of much agony to the purist, but when he discovered that the best writers of English were using it right along, either his pangs eased or he ceased to howl about them.

One of the purposes of language is to convey ideas. If it succeeds in this, its mission has been fairly well performed. Of course there are abuses of English, such as the double negative, that bespeak ignorance and vulgarity. And I submit that it would be impossible to feel friendly towards a person guilty of proclaiming that he had went or had saw. However, the reformatory impulse of the purist is not stirred by the crimes of the lingual degenerate, whom justly he regards as hopeless. His chosen victim is the person probably habitually using English superior to his own, who in haste, or possibly embarrassment, is guilty of minor error. Or often the correction is based on a difference of judgment, the chances being that the judgment of the critic is the one at fault.

The present indications are that he will speak at least once in the southern end of the county and twice in the northern end.

FOR MR. HUGHES
M. J. Brandenstein, of San Francisco, coffee and tea importer and exporter, says:
"I am for Mr. Hughes first, last and all the time. Everybody knows the issues in this campaign, but primarily the question of protection of American industries is the issue which will attract the most attention."
"Wilson has been a compromiser, and the pursuance of such a policy for a long period must result in defeat, disaster and insult. We could have settled all of our foreign questions, had a firm policy been maintained."
"We cannot be satisfied with looking at national questions purely with a view to what the present will bring. We have a heritage to leave to our children—we cannot allow such policies to be inaugurated, which while they may tide over a present crisis, only presage disaster to the coming generations."

AMUSEMENTS

At Clune's

"Rummy," the part played by Wilfred Lucas in the Triangle-Fine Arts photoplay of that title, is to be seen at Clune's Theater tonight.
In this play a young newspaperman, fast rising toward success, becomes a wreck when he loses faith in his wife. "It happens like that in real life every once in a while, too," Director Paul Powell said, reminiscently. "I had a friend on one of the newspapers where I worked, a fine, sober, brilliant young fellow—just like 'Rummy' at the beginning of this play. I never knew that boy to take a drink until one day he showed up for work, roaring drunk. We sent him home to sober up. He came back each afternoon, drunker, if that is possible, than the day before. So the boss laid him off, but told him that he would make a place for him if he would get sober and stay sober. But he never did. We all tried to straighten him up, but nothing we could do or say did any good, and after about two years he just disappeared."

At the West End

The feminine admirers of Fannie Ward, the beautiful photodramatic actress, have a great treat in store for them when they see the forthcoming Jesse L. Lasky Production of "Each Pearl a Tear" which will be seen at the West End Theater tonight and tomorrow with Miss Ward in the stellar role. Miss Ward recently returned from New York with an assortment of the latest fashions of the eastern costume designers, and she will have an opportunity to display them to full advantage in this vehicle. Jack Dean, her husband, made the remark that if anybody in New York wanted a new gown they would have to send out to Miss Ward for it, as she bought up all there were in that city. He also asserted that he was kept so busy paying customers' and milliners' bills that he did not have time to get measured for as much as a handkerchief.

At the Temple

"The Fall of a Nation" is sure to stir patriotic enthusiasm when presented here at the Temple Theater. Performances are to be given only tonight and tomorrow. In New York and Chicago the great spectacle was the mecca of many thousands of patriotic Americans who cheered the scenes to the echo. The author describes it as "a bugle call to arms for the nation's defense." The story is of an imaginary invasion of the United States by a foreign power. After the defeat of our puny army and the subsequent usurpation of authority at Washington, the women of the country come to the rescue and by means of a secret, oath-bound conspiracy contrive to expel the invaders.

The Fashions

There had been much talk of simplicity in fashions and a lessening of expensiveness, due to the sense of economy aroused by the war. All nonsense of course. The fashions are extravagant in design and in price, in the latter particularly reaching the climax of extortion.

"LADY OF LEISURE" SILENT ON WEDDING

CHICAGO.—The Crown Point correspondent telegraphed the following, under the heading, "marriage licenses":
"John C. Love, 28, private secretary, Julia M. Cary, 48, 601 East Sixtieth street."
So Mr. Love answered the telephone at the Sixtieth street address.
"Well, ahem, yes, I'm her secretary," he said. "Married? Well, I'll have to let you talk with her."
"I'm a lady of leisure," said Mrs. Cary, or Love, whichever it is, "and when I leave the state to do something I don't think it is of any interest to persons in the state I leave. That's all. Good night."

DECLARES SEAMAN'S BILL IS SUCCESS

SAN FRANCISCO.—After eight months' absence from the city, Andrew Furuseth, president of the International Seamen's union, father of the seamen's bill and one of the most picturesque figures in the labor world, reached San Francisco and made the declaration that so far the seamen's bill has proven a complete vindication of labor's original attitude regarding it. Furuseth says he speaks from experience gained investigating the working of the bill in Philadelphia, Boston, New York, Seattle and other seaports.

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A SIMPLE, SAFE, RELIABLE WAY
—People who are over-burdened with superfluous fat, know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear. If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.
There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise, here is a test worth trying. Spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from Rowley Drug Company, or any good druggist, a box of oil of korean capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.
Weigh yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.
Oil of korean is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, and helps digestion. Even a few days treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, footprints become lighter, your work seem easier and a lighter and more buoyant feeling takes possession of your whole being.
Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial.—Advertisement.

cabs ahead of me, and another one behind, not a one of those soldiers ever offered me a word or a smile, or cracked a joke amongst themselves. But they were real men all right, all right—grave, resolved, knowing fully what was going to be asked of them, but ready to risk and give all.
"I landed them where I had been ordered and hurried back to Paris with the rest of my pals for a fresh load. It was just the same as the first—not a word from any one of them. Ah, that silence through the long hours of the night was terrible, and if I ever lived a hundred years I would never forget that ride, nor the appetite I had after eating only one biscuit in 48 hours, nor the berating I got from my good wife when my oath prevented me telling her anything about it."
